Story time - Ganesha & Moon

SOE Store
Kids

Ganesha loves to eat. One day, Ganesha was invited for dinner to a friend's house. it was Ganesha's birthday. Ganesha had the dinner happily. He polished off one dish after another especially sweets. He gobbled down hundreds of them. Finally his tummy was stuffed so tight that it hurt. Ganesha clambered on to his mouse and left.

It was night by this time. The moon lit Ganesha's path. Suddenly a huge, black snake slithered across the road. The mouse got so frightened seeing the snake that he ran in the opposite direction. Poor Ganesha couldn't maintain his balance. He fell down. While getting up the elephant god heard loud laughs. He looked up and saw the moon shaking with laughter. The moon, shining above, had watched everything and found the whole scene extremely funny. The mouse was running in one direction and the snake in the other. In the middle lay Ganesha, clutching his tummy tight and making an effort to get up. The moon couldn't help but break into laughter! Ganesha got extremely angry and cursed him, saying nobody will see the moon on the occasion of Ganesh Chaturthi, or else they will be accused of doing something wrong.

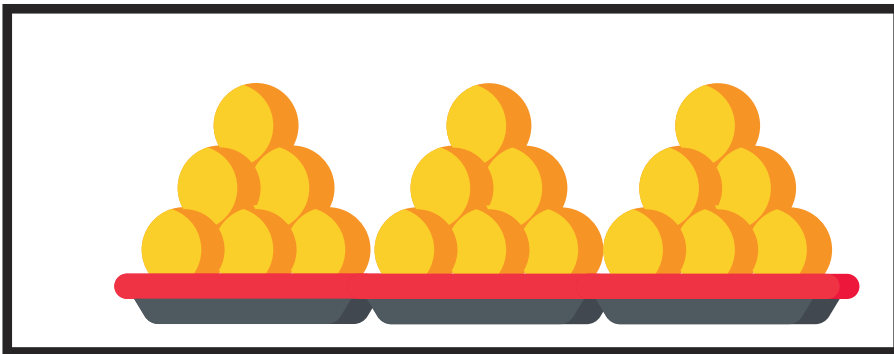

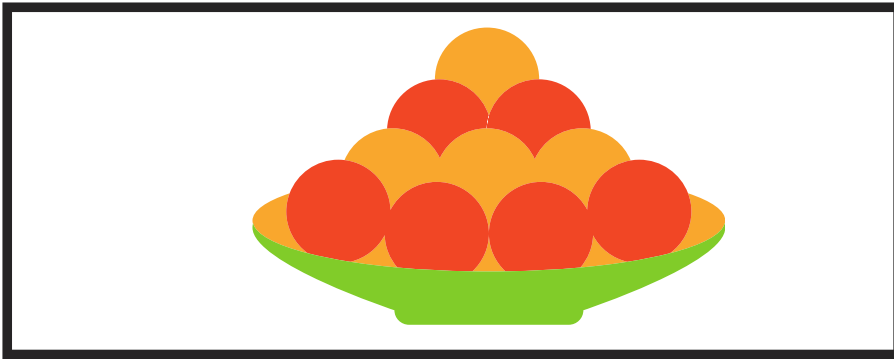

Moral of the story : One should never laugh at somebody else's problems or deformities. This is impolite and is not a sign of good behaviour.
